My introduction to Indian Noni was just two weeks back, but the wonders done by it in this short span are more.

I was admitted in the hospital for cellulitis (swelling of left lower limb). My surgeon operated my limb, but wounds were not healing due to high sugar levels.

My Diabetologist put me on Indian Noni, for regular intake, and he also had asked me to apply externally on my wounds. To my surgeon's surprise, the wounds started healing very fast and my sugars are now under control. I feel active, energetic and full of life.

I have put my wife on Indian Noni too and am positive that she will also have her sugars under control and lead a healthy, active and energetic life with me.
